BRITISH PROPOSAL REGARDING RUSSIA REFUSED BY PARIS

London Wants To Invite All Russian Governments To Call Truce

FRANCE DECLINES

Will Have Nothing To Do With Move Because It Includes Soviets

WOULD BAR THEM

Proposes Instead A Conference Of All Parties Except The Bolsheviks

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Paris, January 12.—Great interest has been aroused by the publication in the newspapers of the text of a note addressed by M. Pichon, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, to Great Britain showing that the latter during December proposed to the Associated Governments that they should invite all the Russian governments, including the Soviet, to call a truce during the Peace Conference and to send representatives to it with a view to establishing general peace.

M. Pichon replied on January 5 paying a tribute to the generous spirit shown by Great Britain to a universal reconciliation but declining to agree to the inclusion of the Bolsheviks owing to their many criminal acts but adding that France agreed to the proposal that an invitation should be sent to the other Russian governments.

Press Supports Decision

The press, with the exception of the extreme organs, is satisfied with the decision of M. Pichon. The Minister for Foreign Affairs, not to treat with the Bolsheviks, is not being a system of Government but sheer anarchy and the Bolsheviks being the declared enemies of the Entente and of all existing systems of government. M. Pichon laid down in a few words that the duty of the Allies is to furnish the Russian peoples with arms, resources and military support against the Bolshevik movement and the prolongation of German aggression.

Conditions Better In Estonia

Helsingfors, January 10.—The news from Estonia is more reassuring. Warships bombarded the strongholds of the Bolsheviks between Reval and Narva, after which the Estonians attacked and the Bolsheviks fled. The Estonians have also taken the offensive on a front of fifty miles between Tapa and Moisekne, fifty and a hundred miles respectively south of Reval and re-established their possession of the railways towards Pernau.

Stockholm, January 12.—An official communiqué issued by the Estonian Government today reports:

Towards the coast and in the direction of Wesenberg we reached the line Põtsu-Jalassa-Malla. An armored train reached Waegga and troops were landed and captured the works and mansions of Põtsu and Malla.

BOLSHEVIK PROPAGANDA ACTIVE IN WEST SIBERIA

Rumor Of Soviets' Recapture Of Perm Denied By Vladivostok

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, January 13.—Bolshevik propaganda is active in Far Eastern Siberia. The rumor that the Bolsheviks have recaptured Perm is without foundation.

General Gaida has been appointed to command on the Ufa front. An energetic advance on Ufa is held up because the equipment and accoutrements requisite for the Czech-Slovak and Siberian forces have not yet arrived.

Suggestions For China At Allied Peace Conference

Views Given By Gen. Ju Ju-jen, Commander-in-Chief Of The Shensi Revolutionary Party

By Ju Ju-jen

(Note: Gen. Ju Ju-jen, or Ju Ju-jen as he is often called, is commander-in-chief of the Shensi Revolutionary Party. He was formerly editor of the Min Li Pao in Shanghai and took a leading part in the Revolutions of 1911 and 1913.)

During the past 17 years I have lived in Shanghai, devoting my time and energy mainly to the spread of democratic ideas in the Far East through the medium of the Min Li Pao, of which I was the editor. When the seed already sown bore fruit in the Revolution of 1911, it was said that the Min Li Pao had played a very important part in dispersing the forces arrayed against democracy. This I humbly believe to have been true. But the ideals which I have cherished all along are still far from being realized.

Unfortunately my time is now too fully occupied in the present struggle against militarism in Shensi, to permit of my taking a wider interest in international affairs. Moreover, I am largely cut off from outside news, and only occasionally see extracts from newspapers. Hence my knowledge of external affairs is obscured.

I rejoiced exceedingly in the great victory which the Allies have won over the Central Powers. Might is overthrown, Righteousness exalted. In China democracy and militarism are also opposed to each other, but we believe that democracy will triumph in the end, as it has done in Europe.

I also rejoice to know that President Wilson is attending the forthcoming Peace Conference, more especially as there is no absolute need for him to do so, as there will be other American representatives present. One is bound to conclude that President Wilson's great desire for the welfare of democracy constrains him to go. The share which America has taken in the war was not merely in self-defence, neither were the mighty resources of the British Empire utilised to the utmost in this bitter struggle, merely for self-protection. There were higher aims in view. Mankind is looking towards a new era of universal peace and brotherhood. Apart from this great hope, the sacrifice of countless precious lives would be a desecration of humanity, worse than that committed by Germany.

The war has shaken the five continents to their very foundations. Men's minds are being stirred; new thoughts and new ideals are springing up; and what before seemed impossible is now easy of attainment. The Brotherhood of Nations is no longer a remote ideal, but a matter of present, practical politics. How does the Republic of China stand in relation to these great ideals? It is to be feared that the people for the

BIG NEW YORK STRIKE IS SETTLED PEACEABLY

Most Of Harbor Men Resume Work After Appeal By Government

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

New York, January 10.—The harbor strike has assumed serious dimensions. It has thrown over 80,000 workers in the port out of employment and is paralyzing transport, holding up steamers laden with food and threatening grave shortages of food in Manhattan Island. The members of the Government have cabled President Wilson, who is expected to intervene. Meanwhile steps are being taken to divert food shipments.

New York, January 11.—The strike has practically isolated the city. The coal shortage is acute and threatens interurban communications while the food situation is serious. The authorities are taking steps on the 13th to secure the resumption of work, assuring workers that they will establish equitable wages and working conditions.

Washington, January 11.—In accordance with a request cabled by President Wilson, the War Labor Board will meet in New York on the 13th to decide regarding the strike. Meanwhile the Board will urge the strikers to resume work on the assurance that the Board will promptly establish equitable wages and working conditions.

New York, January 12.—Most of the marine-workers have responded to the appeal of the Labor Board to resume work.

MIN RIVER IMPROVEMENT SUPPORTED BY MINISTERS

Proposals To Help Port Of Foochow Submitted To Peking Government

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, January 13.—After discussions between the Consuls, Chinese officials and merchant community in Foochow, a scheme for the improvement of the navigation of the River Min between Pagoda Anchorage and Foochow on the lines recommended by Mr. Ferguson, the Commissioner of Customs, was submitted to the Diplomatic Corps. It was proposed that a sur-tax of five percent and an annual contribution from the Chinese Government should defray the cost of the scheme. The Diplomatic Corps approved the scheme and, on December 27, forwarded a note to the Chinese Government pointing out that it would conduce to the commercial prosperity of the port and recommending that it should be carried out. The Government has not yet replied.

PADEREWSKI WOUNDED IN ATTEMPT ON LIFE

Would-Be Assassin Enters His Room And Fires Several Shots At Him

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

Copenhagen, January 12.—A message from Vienna states that a person entered Paderewski's room in an hotel and fired a shot at Paderewski, who was slightly wounded. Some arrests were made. It is stated that the plot was arranged by the Bolsheviks.

WINTER CLOTHES NEEDED FOR SIBERIAN REFUGEES

Will Be Received At Godowns On Avenue Edward VII At Specified Times

An urgent request for winter clothing for the Siberian refugees is being made to both the foreign and Chinese population of Shanghai. Winter apparel is being received at the Benjamin godowns, 25 Avenue Edward VII, on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays between the hours of 10 and 12 a.m. and 2 and 4 p.m. The godowns have been loaned to the Shanghai Chapter of the American Red Cross for the purpose of collecting and fumigating the clothes.

League Will Remove Most Causes Of War, Gen. Smuts Believes

Thinks System Such As He Outlines Would Be Workable

(Reuter's Agency War Service) London, January 10.—The third section of General Smuts' program for a League of Nations, the remainder of which has been given before, follows:

The League would reserve ultimate control and the people of the governed State would have the right to appeal to it in case of mis-government. The policy of the open door would be followed in all such states.

Speaking generally of the early future situation under his scheme, General Smuts says that new sovereign states such as Poland, Finland, Bohemia and Greater Serbia will have arisen. A large number of autonomous states will also have arisen, befriended, advised and assisted by the greater states, while a smaller number of areas will be directly administered by one or other of the Powers. Over all will be the League. General Smuts believes that such a system is workable and will remove the most fruitful sources of war.

U.S. Troops In Siberia Request Text Books

American Soldiers Want Arithmetics, Geometries And Algebras, Says Letter

American soldiers in Siberia have requested the American Library Association to supply them with mathematics text books—arithmetics, algebras and geometries—and Mr. Harry Clemens, representative of the association with the United States Expeditionary Forces, has forwarded the request to the American Post Office here.

Other books and all sorts of reading matter are acceptable, Mr. Clemens writes in a letter to the United States Postal Agent, Mr. E. H. Everett, in which he expresses, on behalf of the soldiers, appreciation for books and magazines sent from Shanghai.

STATUS OF TRUCE IS TAKEN UP FIRST AT ALLIED COUNCIL

Questions Relating To Renewal Of Armistice Are Considered

PROGRAM PLANNED

Methods And Procedure Of Peace Preliminaries Are Mapped Out

WILSON IS PRESENT

Inaugural Sitting Of Actual Peace Conference Set For 20th

(French Wireless)

Paris, January 13.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza).—At the conclusion of the Inter-Allied meeting, which was held on Sunday at the Quai d'Orsay in the cabinet of M. Stephen Pichon, Minister for Foreign Affairs, the following note was communicated:

"On Sunday afternoon, after the meeting of the Supreme War Council, which examined the questions relative to a renewal of the armistice, the premiers and ministers of the Great Allied and Associated Powers dealt with the methods and manner of the peace preliminaries."

Foch Reports On Armistice

The press publishes the following additional information:

The Inter-Allied Council has been deliberating on an extension of the armistice. Marshal Foch, who communicated details relative to the carrying out of its terms. The number of French prisoners returned to France up to January 12 was 458,455 men. On this date there remained in the camps in the interior of Germany nearly 28,000 men. Concerning the handing over of war material, the Germans had still to hand over some hundreds of heavy guns and about 300 minenwerfers. The rolling-stock delivered on January 9, totaled 1,967 locomotives out of 5,000 and 61,650 wagons out of 150,000 and also 3,222 motor-locomotives out of 10,000. Seven hundred aeroplanes have also been handed over in accordance with the terms of the armistice.

Inaugural Sitting On 20th

(Reuter's Agency War Service) Paris, January 12.—Official. The inaugural sitting of the Peace Conference will be held on the 20th.

The Echo de Paris says that after the principle of the League of Nations has been agreed the Conference will discuss the future internationalisation of the navigation of the Rhine.

Le Matin, outlining the chief problems concerning territory, says that Great Britain, besides her colonial claims, will seek to link up her colonies in Africa with India by a protectorate over certain states in Arabia, subject to their consent.

The Supreme War Council of the Allies sat for three hours. M. Clemenceau, M. Pichon, M. Leygues, M. Clemenceau, M. Loucheur, Marshal Foch, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. A. J. Balfour, President Wilson, Mr. Lansing, Signor Orlando and Baron Sonnino were present.

Fifty Delegates Present

This afternoon at the Quai d'Orsay there was a meeting of the Inter-Allied Ministers with their military advisers. There was no preliminary talk but a formal opening of the Conference under the presidency of M. Clemenceau, the delegates numbering at least fifty and their secretaries being present.

On the initiative of the French Government, the first question to be discussed concerns the League of Nations and the Conference will be asked at the outset to decide in principle the constitution of the League as well as the guiding principles to be followed in settling various peace problems.

The Supreme War Council today discussed the question of the number of delegates each Power should send to the Peace Conference. The French proposal in favor of the nomination

Spartacist Revolt Over, Government Victorious

Last Of Buildings Held By Them In Berlin Recaptured By Loyal Troops

(French Wireless)

Berne, January 13.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza).—Telegrams coming from Berlin say that it is considered that the Spartacist revolt has been definitely put to an end. On the night of January 11-12 the Spartacists were forced, under threat of bombardment, to abandon the last of the buildings they were still holding in the newspaper district, notably the Mosse building. Most of the Spartacists managed to escape and the Government troops have entered all the buildings they held, which were found to be full of arms and munitions.

(Reuter's Agency War Service) Berlin, January 9.—This evening exceptionally violent battles have occurred around the Mosse and the Ullstein buildings but the Government is apparently confident and its reinforcements are adequate to prevent a surprise.

Prior to the abandonment of violence, the Spartacists demand a fresh election to the Central Council, excluding the Majority Socialists, and also fresh elections to the Soviet.

London, January 12.—The Berlin correspondent of the Sunday Express reports heavy fighting on the 10th, when the Government troops retook the offices of the Berliner Tageblatt. Machine-guns were used freely by both sides. The Government troops ultimately brought up a tank and battered down the main doors after which the storming party obtained a footing and finally captured the building. Both the Spartacists and the Government troops lost heavily. The latter have recaptured the State printing works. The Spartacists control Spandau, where there are many munition works.

Zurich, January 12.—The Frankfurter Zeitung speaks of the situation in Berlin turning momentarily to the disadvantage of the Government, whom apparently the Spartacists hoodwinked by pretending to seek a truce. It says, however, that

Luxemburg Chamber Proclaims Republic

Grand Duchess Ordered To Abdicate And Committee Of Public Safety Formed

(French Wireless)

Paris, January 13.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza).—After voting unanimously to dethrone the dynasty, the Luxemburg Chamber has proclaimed a republic. A Committee of Public Safety has been formed composed of three Liberals and three Socialists.

(Reuter's Agency War Service) Metz, January 12.—A republic has been proclaimed in Luxemburg and the Grand Duchess has retired to the castle.

of five, three, two or one representatives for each State, according to the importance of the part it had played in the war, found a certain amount of opposition and the Council separated without having ratified the proposal.

Paris, January 13.—The conversations at the first meeting of the representatives of the Associated Governments yesterday were conducted in English but French will be the official language at the Peace Conference.

British War Cabinet To Meet

London, January 12.—An official message from Paris which is the first message Reuter's has received from there by telephone since the beginning of the war, states that there will be a meeting of the Imperial War Cabinet in Paris tomorrow.

The Supreme War Council considered various matters in connection with the renewal of the armistice raised by Marshal Foch, after which the Conference deliberated on procedure and other matters connected with the peace conferences. General Bliss and General Sir Henry Wilson participated in the first portion of the proceedings.

The meeting of the Imperial War Cabinet tomorrow will discuss the results of today's conference. Paris, January 11.—Mr. Lloyd George, his daughter, Mr. A. Bonar Law, Sir Robert Borden, Mr. W. M. Hughes, General Smuts, Mr. W. F. Lloyd, Premier of Newfoundland, and the Maharajah of Bikanir, with several Indian officers and a numerous suite, arrived this morning and were received by M. Pichon, the French Minister for Foreign Affairs.

MR. TANG SHAO-YI ADVISES OPIUM BE GIVEN TO ALLIES

Telegraphs President Hsu Urging Him Not To Burn Drug Useful For Medicine

While preparations are going forward to begin the burning of the opium stock Friday morning, Mr. Tang Shao-yi yesterday despatched a telegram to President Hsu Shih-chang, strongly urging him not to burn it but to present it to the Allied Red Cross. After praising President Hsu for his determination to end the evil forever he argues that the destruction of such a valuable commodity, with the attendant expense of examination and burning, is contrary to the principles of economics. He points out that by turning the drug over to the Allies for use as medicine much suffering could be alleviated and part of China's obligations as a participant in the war discharged.

Mr. Tang says further that by sending the opium away all rumors of fraud in connection with the opium would be silenced. He warns that if any fraud should be perpetrated and a substitute be burned for the genuine article China would be made a laughing-stock in the eyes of the whole world, including its own people. He requests an early reply from President Hsu.

The burning of the opium stock accumulated here will begin in Pootung Friday morning at 9 o'clock, it was officially announced yesterday. A tender will leave the Customs Jetty promptly at 9 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to accommodate 100 people at tiffin at noon and the tender will return after the last chest conveyed to Pootung is burned. The burning of the stock at the Ewo godown consisting of 448 chests of Patna and 192 chests of Malwa opium, will take about four days, it is estimated.

The number of chests examined at the Jardine, Matheson's godown yesterday was 95, which was all Malwa opium. The remaining stock of Malwa in this godown is expected to be inspected today. The commissioner, the deputies and the Customs officials engaged in the examination will take a holiday tomorrow, which is the first after eight strenuous days. There was nothing irregular in the examination yesterday. Two chests were found to contain only 50 catties, but it was explained that they were sample cases.

When the burning of the Ewo stock is completed, examination of the stock kept in the godown of Messrs. E. D. Sassoon and Co. will begin. This however, will take place also at the Ewo godown, as there is not enough working space in the Sassoon godown. The chests will be moved to the Ewo godown under strict supervision.

Much Interest Is Shown In Opium Mass Meeting

Great interest has been shown by the members of the Consular body, the municipal officials and the gentry in endorsing the International Anti-Opium Association to be formed at a mass meeting Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. It is expected that strong resolutions will be adopted for the restriction of opium, morphine and Allied drugs to medical use.

Among those who have already consented to act as patrons of the movement are Mr. A. Ariyoshi, Consul-General for Japan; Mr. Thomas Sammons, the United States Consul-General; Mr. D. Siffert, the Senior Consul-General; Judge Charles S. Lobinger of the United States Court for China; Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott of St. John's University; Commissioner of Optum Destruction Chang Yi-pang; Mr. A. G. Stephen of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation; Commissioner of Customs R. H. R. Wade; Mr. W. S. Fleming and a large number of Chinese and American missionaries and doctors.

Admission to the meeting will be by tickets only. One thousand tickets have been printed and will be ready for distribution this morning at the Y.M.C.A. and at the office of the North China Daily News. Efforts are being made to make the gathering as representative as possible.

Moving pictures will be taken of the examination this morning by the Commercial Press.

MUCH OPIUM SMUGGLED INTO CHINA FROM BURMA

Measures Being Taken By British And Chinese Officials To Check Traffic

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, January 13.—British reports state that an appreciable amount of opium is being smuggled into China over the Burma border. Measures are being taken with a view to securing close co-operation between the Chinese and British border officials in order to suppress the traffic.

Chinese Body Urges Abolition Of Likin

Tariff Equalisation Association Asks Government To Take Immediate Action

The International Tariff Equalisation Association at Shanghai recently organised under the direction of Mr. Chang Chien, former Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, yesterday despatched a telegram to the Government urging the immediate sanction of the Cabinet to abolish the likin system. The message stated that unless the likin system is abolished there will be no hope of securing tariff concessions from the Foreign Powers.

New British Government Much Criticised By Press

Personnel Of Lloyd George's Cabinet Berated As Lacking In New Blood

(Reuter's Agency War Service)

London, January 11.—The Times expresses the view of a number of the newspapers issued this morning when it says that the new Ministry will cause deep disappointment throughout the country. The Premier has shattered every hope that the reconstruction of his Ministry would at least result in the infusion of new blood to the utmost limits of the possibilities, but he has not utilised even the existing opportunities.

London, January 10.—It is definitely announced that the following constitutes the complete Lloyd George Ministry:

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. D. Lloyd George.
Lord Privy Seal and Leader of the House of Commons, Mr. A. Bonar Law.
Lord President of the Council and Leader of the House of Lords, Earl Curzon.

Ministers without portfolios, Mr. G. N. Barnes and Sir Eric Geddes.

Lord High Chancellor, Sir F. E. Smith.

Secretary of State for Home Affairs, Sir Hamar Greenwood.

Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Mr. A. J. Balfour.

Parliamentary Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth.

Secretary of State for the Colonies, Viscount Milner.

Parliamentary Under-Secretary of States for the Colonies, Colonel Amery.

War Office and Air Ministry, Mr. Winston Churchill.

Under-Secretary to the War Office, Viscount Peel.

Financial Secretary, Mr. H. W. Foster.

Under-Secretary: Air Ministry, Major-General Seely, who will be appointed Vice-President of the Air Council and will preside over it.

Secretary of State for India, Mr. E. S. Montagu.

Under-Secretary for India, Sir Satyendra Sinha.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Walter Long.

Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, Mr. T. J. Macnamara.

President of the Board of Trade, Sir Albert Stanley.

Parliamentary Under-Secretary: Board of Trade, Mr. W. C. Bridgeman.

Department of Overseas Trade Development and Intelligence, Sir A. Steel-Maitland, who is also an additional Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs and an additional Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade.

President of the Local Government Board, Mr. Christopher Addison.

Parliamentary Secretary: Local Government Board, Mr. Stephen Walsh.

President of the Board of Agriculture, Mr. R. E. Prothero.

Parliamentary Secretary: Board of Agriculture, Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen.

President of the Board of Education, Dr. H. A. Fisher.

Parliamentary Secretary: Board of Education, Mr. J. H. Lewis.

The Ministry of Munitions, which is to become the Ministry of Supply, Sir Andrew Weir.

Joint Parliamentary Secretaries:

Ministry of Supply, Mr. F. G. Keilway, Major Baird.

Food Controller, Mr. G. H. Roberts.

Minister of Shipping, Sir Joseph Maclay.

Parliamentary Secretary: Ministry of Shipping, Colonel Leslie Wilson.

Minister of Labor, Sir R. S. Horne.

Parliamentary Secretary: Ministry of Labor, Mr. G. J. Wardle.

Minister of Pensions, Sir Worthington Evans.

Parliamentary Secretary: Ministry of Pensions, Colonel Craig.

Minister of National Service and Reconstruction, Sir Auckland Geddes.

Parliamentary Secretary: Ministry of National Service and Reconstruction, Mr. A. C. T. Beck.

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, The Earl of Crawford.

First Commissioner of Works, Sir Alfred Mond.

Attorney-General, Sir Gordon Hewart, K. C.

Solicitor-General, Sir Ernest Pollock.

Postmaster-General, Mr. A. H. Illingworth.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Austen Chamberlain.

Parliamentary Secretaries to the Treasury (Joint), Lord Edmund Talbot, Captain P. E. Cusack.

Financial Secretaries to the Treasury (Joint), Sir S. Hardman Lever, Mr. Stanley Baldwin.

Lord Commissioners of the Treasury, J. P. Hope, J. W. Pratt, J. Parker, Twyn Jones.

Secretary for Scotland, Mr. R. Munro.

Solicitor-General for Scotland, Mr. T. B. Morrison.

Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Field Marshal Viscount French.

Lord Chancellor of Ireland, Sir J. Campbell.

Chief Secretary for Ireland, Mr. J. I. Macpherson.

Lord Chamberlain, Viscount Sandhurst.

Until there has been time to make permanent peace arrangements the existing War Cabinet will continue.

The Government intend, as soon as possible after Parliament meets to submit proposals for the establishment of a Ministry of Ways and Communications. If these proposals are adopted Sir Eric Geddes will be invited to become head of the department.

The following peerages were conferred on acceptance of office: Sir Andrew Weir and Mr. R. E. Prothero.

The new Ministry is mainly a reconstitution of the old one. Among the few exceptions, the selection of the distinguished Indian, Sir Satyendra Sinha, is one of the surprising features, no hint of such an appointment having appeared among the numerous forecasts and speculations. His appointment is the first one of an Indian as a member of the British Government. It is expected in political circles that he will be elevated to the peerage. Another unexpected appointment is that of Sir R. S. Horne as Minister of Labor. He is a distinguished Scottish lawyer who proved his outstanding abilities in reorganising the railway system in Northern France and subsequently became Third Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir Hardman Lever is an accountant whose introduction of costing methods resulted in a very substantial reduction in the price of shells.

The precise relations of the War Ministry and the Air Ministry are somewhat obscure but the apparent absorption of the latter by the former will probably occasion much discussion.

The most notable of the absentees from the new list is General Smuts, who, it will be remembered, retired for the reasons cited on December 16. It is assumed that Sir Eric Geddes will replace him in the War Cabinet.

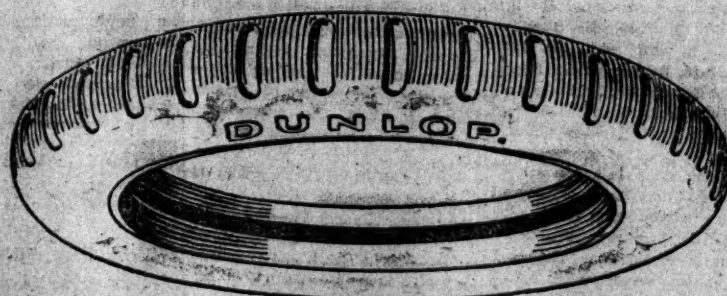

The new Ministry is composed of thirty Unionists, twenty-five Liberals and five Laborites.

The appointments in the new Ministry will cause six bye-elections, namely: Oxford University, the West Derby division of Liverpool, the Hillhead division of Glasgow, Colchester, Warwick and Leamington, and Ross and Cromarty.

GERMAN NAVAL REVOLT IMPEDES SURRENDER

Crews On Ships Refuse To Carry Out Orders And Neglect Vessels

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
London, January 10.—It is authoritatively stated that the German battleship Baden, which was demanded in lieu of the battle-cruiser Mackensen, has been duly delivered at Scapa Flow.

The Allied Commission of Investigation at German ports has speeded up the surrenders somewhat, but the situation is full of difficulties. Since the German naval revolt, and especially subsequent to the surrender of the German fleet, it has been very difficult to get the crews to do anything, and neglect and the disappearance of discipline have made the vessels left in Germany highly inefficient but the commission has made them more so by requiring the removal of guns, range-finders and other important parts. The demobilisation at Kiel, Wilhelmshaven and the other big ports is practically completed and is proceeding satisfactorily elsewhere. The Allies are superintending the care of the dismantled parts.

The demobilisation of the German navy has also been somewhat noticeable at Scapa Flow. The German officers are only able to issue orders through the Soviet on board and the men frequently ignore them.

170 uncompleted submarines were found in German ports, the majority of them mere skeletons. Sixty completed submarines were discovered, of which sixteen are leaving Germany on the 12th for surrender to the British authorities.

Reuter's agency learns that the Allied Commission of Investigation has visited Heligoland but found no surprise in the defenses disclosed which were not already known to the Admiralty.

TEA-DANCE AT CARLTON FOR SIBERIAN ORPHANS

American Woman's Club Announces Dances And Sale Of Pictures For Next Week.

The American Woman's Club will hold a tea-dance and an exhibition and sale of pictures at the Carlton Cafe for the benefit of the Siberian Orphans' Fund, Wednesday afternoon, January 22. The pictures will be on exhibition from three o'clock until five and there will be dancing to the Carlton orchestra from five until seven o'clock. Tea will be served. Tickets are for sale at one dollar and the entire proceeds will be turned over to the Allied War Relief Association for work now planned in behalf of the children of Siberia.

Mr. Louis Ladow, manager of the Carlton, is giving the hall and music and Madame Wu Hsing-fen, foremost of Chinese contemporary painters, and Mrs. James Macbeth have donated pictures to be sold for the benefit of the Fund.

The pictures on exhibition will include some of Madame Wu's latest, thirty of which will be sold. Madame Wu is the most famous of Chinese lady artists. Her pictures have been exhibited all over the world and at an exhibition in Rome, in 1910, when a number of Chinese artists were requested to send works, the Queen of Italy purchased several of Madame Wu's paintings.

Mr. Everett Summoned By Cable To Attend Conference; Leaves Saturday

Mr. E. H. Everett, United States Postal Agent, will leave for the United States on the Empress of Japan, sailing Saturday afternoon. Mr. Everett will go direct to Washington as the result of a cable summoning him to attend a conference to discuss handling of American mail here, at Vladivostok and at other points in the Far East.

During Mr. Everett's absence, the American Post Office will be in charge of Mr. E. H. Murray and Mr. L. T. Kenake will act as Superintendent of Mails.

Mr. Everett expects to return to Shanghai on the Empress of Asia about the middle of March.

Unshackled Anarchy Rules Buenos Aires

Battles Fought In Argentine Capital With 250 Killed And 700 Wounded

(Reuter's Agency War Service)
New York, January 12.—Buenos Aires is apparently in the hands of an unshackled anarchy, the excesses ranging from theft to indiscriminate murder.

Buenos Aires, January 10.—The strike of harbor-men has caused 150,000 workers to come out in sympathy. The strikers have burned a number of buildings and stormed the arsenal, securing quantities of ammunition. The troops fought the strikers all night long. The strike is attributed to German agents.

Buenos Aires, January 11.—After negotiations all night long with the Government officials, the strikers voted in favor of ending the general strike provided the demands of the Vasena iron works strikers were granted.

Buenos Aires, January 12.—Despite the statement that the strike has terminated, there has been a recrudescence of shooting and other disorders which continued all night long. An attack on the Post Office was repelled with the aid of machine-guns. In attacks on the Vasena iron works, 20 persons were killed and 60 wounded. All the Government buildings are closely guarded. All labor meetings have been prohibited. A censorship of news sent overseas is anticipated. The Commander of the Government troops reports that 250 persons have been killed and 700 wounded in the strike riots.

(French Wireless)
Paris, January 13.—(Via Lyons and Koukaza). A message from Buenos Aires says that the general strike which has broken out in the Argentine has led to a number of frays in Buenos Aires. Collisions occurred between the troops and strikers which resulted in bloodshed. The tramways and the railways have ceased to run and business is entirely paralysed.

The St. John's Echo

The December, 1918, number of the St. John's Echo, which has just made its appearance, contains much interesting reading matter. Besides the editorial by President F. L. Hawks Pott, who wrote on the Allied victory, the life of soldiers both at the battle-front and in training camps was described in several letters sent to the university by former St. John's professors and students, including Lieutenant L. K. Urquhart, Mr. J. A. Mitchell, Lieutenant W. S. A. Pott, Private Harold B. Barton, Dr. Walter H. Pott and the late Acting Sergeant O. W. Gott.

The opium question is cleverly handled by Ku Tsung in a treatise entitled "The Burst Bubble." There is an essay on the Chinese statesman, Li Hung-chang, by Y. Z. Sung and an interesting story on Chinese superstition by Yui Pong-kyuin. "The Fisherman's Daughter." K. S. Wei contributes an article on "Civilisation and its Present Crisis."

The athletic notes, the alumni notes, the Chinese section and the various news departments complete the issue.

PROGRESS?

According to the Chinese press, the famous old examination halls in Nanking are being pulled down for the erection of a commercial museum. The bricks which are obtained by the demolition of the cells are sold at $30 per thousand. The proceeds will be utilised for the construction of roads in the city.

The Kiangwan inquiry which is scheduled to take place this afternoon at the admiralty court is expected to be postponed to next Wednesday on application of the claimants, the Chinese Merchants' Steam Navigation Co.

According to telegraphic information from the head office of the Norwegian Africa and Australia Line, at Christiania, that company will despatch a steamer on its China and Japan service this month.

Mr. E. K. Howe, one of the survivors when the Quintero, United States Shipping Board steamer operated by the Robert Dollar Company, was wrecked off the Philippines coast Christmas night, has been discharged from the Philippine General Hospital and will sail for Shanghai from Manila on January 20.

There will be no meeting of the Engineering Society of China on January 21 as previously announced. The paper on "The Further Improvement of Chefoo Harbor" has been cancelled.

An inter-company competition drill, inspection and review of the Student Battalion will be held at St. John's University Saturday afternoon. Lt. Comdr. M. C. Shirley, U.S.N., will be the reviewing officer. An exhibition by Boy Scouts will also be given.

The trial on appeal was resumed in Kobe on January 8 of Mr. J. S. Willes, editor and publisher of the Kobe Herald, and the Japanese printer, on the double charge of disturbing public order and peace and lese majeste. It will be remembered that after a trial in camera the Kobe Court sentenced Mr. Willes to imprisonment without hard labor for ten months on the combined charges and ordered him to pay fines totaling Yen 500. The printer was sentenced to imprisonment without hard labor for three months and to a fine of Yen 70. The appeal proceedings, as on the occasion of the prosecution, were conducted in camera, and judgment will be delivered on January 24.

More Mail Waiting At U.S. Post Office

Ecuador Packages Ready For Distribution, Parcel Post In Yesterday Delayed

Mail arriving from the United States yesterday morning on the B. A. T. steamer Justin further complicated matters at the American Post Office, and, despite the large number of packages taken from the parcel-post room during the day, 563 sacks of second-class mail matter from the Justin are stored in another room because the Ecuador packages have not yet been claimed.

The American Post Office requests that all who have been notified that mail awaits them should present their notifications today in order that the Justin mail may be sorted.

Mail arriving on the Nanking and Javary is nearly all distributed, thus making room for that received on the Ecuador. This now adorns the parcel-post room while the mail coming yesterday stands in line.

Included in the 576 sacks arriving on the Justin were 23 sacks of first-class mail, which was sorted before one o'clock.

Shensi General On World Peace

most part are still in darkness, while even the enlightened among us are very short-sighted and consider matters affecting China only; such as the questions concerning Tientsin, the Customs, extra-territoriality, and so on. Their main concern seems to be what China will gain out of the war. If this was our only motive for joining the Allies, it must be confessed as unworthy the aims and ideals of the Republic.

What China's Delegate Should Be

The responsibility resting on the Chinese envoy to the Peace Conference, is not merely to secure benefits for China, but much more to devote his energies towards the realization of the great ideals of "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" among nations. China's true welfare is involved in the development of international brotherhood, the true bulwark of peace and national prosperity. Failing this, what protection and security is there for China? Hence the vital importance of not allowing the thought of national benefits to obscure the vast spiritual issues at stake.

The memorandum addressed to China by the Allies expresses the hope that China will pool her resources with those of the Allies. That is to say, it is not only the duty of China to the other nations that she should be unhampered by internal strife, but that she present is also her great opportunity, an opportunity that must not be missed. In regard to the question of representation at the Peace Conference, it would be fitting that the Chinese envoy should be a person of sound reputation, with a wide knowledge of democratic aims and ideas, and one, moreover, who has devoted much of his time and energy to the development of such aims and ideas in the Far East. He should go as a representative, not of any particular party, but of the people. China possesses such men. As soon as North and South have come to amicable settlement of their differences, a representative possessing these qualifications, and carrying with him the approval of the people as a whole, should be chosen. He should be responsible, not merely for the representation of China's needs and difficulties, but more especially for the task of seeking a solution of the great world problems to be discussed in the Conference. Such a man would be welcomed by all, and the welfare of China would be in safe hands.

Problems Before Conference

The problems before the Peace Conference may be divided roughly into two kinds. The first is the settlement of European difficulties arising from the war. The second is the formation of some kind of international body for dealing with causes that give rise to war.

Why did The Hague tribunal fail in the purpose? First, because it was only designed to deal with troubles that had already become acute. Second, because it was composed of diplomats whose business it was to think only of their country's interests, and not of the common good. What is needed is some sort of permanent world Parliament, composed of delegates chosen from the parliament of each country. Where there is no parliamentary form of government, there will naturally be no representation. This world Parliament should be above all national Parliaments. It should be the center of gravity for all other Parliaments so to speak, and should bring foreign policy under control of popularly elected assemblies. With some such organization as this, all international differences could be adjusted before they give rise to war. Behind the clear decision of Parliament, there would be the combined weight of all the nations represented, and to go contrary to such a decision, would be to incur the opposition of a powerful majority. In this way the welfare of small nations would be safeguarded. Points of difference would be readjusted on their merits without relation to the strength or weakness of the powers concerned.

Solidarity Of Human Race

The inauguration of a World Parliament would be a declaration of the solidarity of the human race, and would prove the death blow to militarism and autocracy. The Allies entered the war, not for self aggrandisement but to make the world safe for democracy. Nothing less than a universal peace would justify the sacrifice of so many lives. In the creation of a World Parliament, we believe the foundation of such a peace would be securely laid, and would be a fitting monument to those who have given their lives so freely in the cause of brotherhood and democracy. Nothing would compensate for the failure to secure permanent peace. "Long live Brotherhood."

We have long thought and planned to secure true democratic government for China, and are ready to make any sacrifice to secure that end. Would that the majority of our countrymen were of the same mind! China would then become a Republic in deed as well as in name. Before China can hope for peace, she must be made to realize, and at once, the danger and the folly of militarism and autocracy. Then, and not till then, will internal strife cease. The tide of democracy is flowing in. It is irresistible in its course. Now is China's opportunity. To allow this opportunity to slip by unheeded, would be nothing less than a national catastrophe. China awake! Now is your time.

Raw cow's milk, in addition to its obvious dangers, is difficult for the baby to digest.

In Nestlé's Food there is the pure milk of healthy cows.

In the process of preparation the curd is made easier to digest, and there is added just the right amount of sugar and cereal.

It can't sour, spoil or deteriorate.

All that is necessary to prepare the Food for use is to add a definite amount of cold water and boil. It is simple for the mother or nurse and protects the baby.

When diarrhoea and gastro-intestinal infection become prevalent, the use of Nestlé's Food means safety and protection.

It is very often a solution of the infant feeding problem.

VANDERLIP SCOUTS INDUSTRIAL CHAOS

Expects Some Wages To Drop,
But Looks For No Serious
Season Of Unemployment

HIGH PRICES TO CONTINUE

Calls Government Regulation
Unfortunate And Bespeaks
Return To Individualism

New York, December 9.—Some of the peak wages paid to labor will drop, but there will not be any widespread shutdown of factories, unemployment, or industrial chaos, according to Frank A. Vanderlip, head of the National City Bank, who presented his views on the labor and industrial situation to the Academy of Political Science, which has just concluded its annual sessions.

"Our subject," he said, "is our industrial victory, and what a victory it was. A greater victory, the victory in the fields of France, could not have been won without that industrial victory. It meant co-operation, sacrifice, the gathering together of the vast facilities of this country, and finally the pouring of a stream of war products which simply overwhelmed the enemy. It was a victory that the whole nation took part in and won triumphantly.

"We have been thought at times rather a bragging nation, but really we never told the truth about ourselves. We are amazed at our own greatness; we are amazed at the extent of this industrial victory, at the feat that was performed.

"But victories are not bloodless. Somebody gets hurt, and there have been some hurts. We have had to see Government regulations introduced that have been unfortunate. They have been necessary, but they have been unfortunate, because they have brought fictitious conditions into our industrial and commercial life. They have had an unfortunate effect on the minds of people, and we have been led too much to lean on Government, to believe that Government can do things that really in the end Government cannot do. We must return in the end very largely, I believe, to the old condition of individualism, if we are to work out our future to the best advantage.

"For my part, I hope to see that return prompt and complete. There are difficulties about that. It would be very easy to argue that we might better go on with that thing or this thing; that chaos would result from abandoning this regulation or that regulation, but on the whole, I am convinced that the sooner we return to the old order, the sooner these interferences and regulations are abandoned, the better prepared we will be to start on what must be a long, hard race.

"You have been considering at this conference the labor situation, and certainly there is nothing in the whole outlook that is more important, and we get widely divergent points of view. I have a plumber friend who used to work for me—I am still on speaking terms with him—and he has been earning $100 a week on Government work. He told me that he was going to continue to earn $100 a week, and that the Government must provide a job for him, paying that much. I know that his views are not unusual. On the other hand, there are manufacturers whom I have heard say that they would have to close down their factories, that labor had to be liquidated; that wages must be cut down. Both points of view are wrong. The Government is not going to provide jobs at impossible wages. Industry is not going to shut down to force liquidation of labor and reduction of wages. We are going to find a middle ground, so that the result will not be an extreme one in either direction.

"One picture is that there are billions of dollars of contracts cancelled, and there must be millions of men thrown out of work, and it must be impossible to find work for people to employ these hands immediately. In some measure that is right, but I think a good many of these contracts, perhaps some millions of dollars of them, were really contracts which were industrially impossible to perform in the time laid out to perform them, and their cancellation does not mean the discharge of men, but the cancellation of paper contracts. Of course, there will be vast contracts cancelled and numbers of men thrown out of employment, a period of readjustment that cannot help being harsh in its effects. Still we have been growing, we have been making normal progress during the last four years, and might remember that we should normally have had 5,000,000 immigrants in that period. We have had practically none, and have lost upward of a million of Europeans who have returned. There is a prospect of a considerable outward movement after freedom of travel is again established. We will have from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 men in uniform for some time to come. So we are not likely to have that surplus of labor which some expect. There has been a great dimming up of production of many kinds, and there is a vast amount of work of a peace nature to do, so I don't consider that there is going to be an excess of labor anything like as serious as some anticipate.

"Wages are high and the price of everything is high, and there is a very substantial economic reason for the currency inflation of the whole world that has been going on for more than four years. European countries have shipped to us $1,300,000,000 in gold, and every bank in the Allied countries has more gold than before the war, forming a great increase in the basis of circulating money. We are on a level of prices where we are likely to remain for some time. While the war is over, war financing is not. There will have to be more loans. Very substantial borrowings are going on. Extension is going on, and I don't foresee a wholesale decline in prices, such as some people have anticipated. Prices are naturally influenced by the volume of money, and I don't think there is a prospect of any very extreme changes."

W. H. Hamilton of the War Labor Policies Board told the Academy that a period of unemployment could be averted by adjusting the method of demobilization to the industrial situation or by providing employment on a large scale on national works.

"If men are released faster than the industrial system can absorb them, 'buffer employment' must be provided," he said. "Employment upon public work, extension of the railways, reclamation, public buildings, can be made to take the surplus which regular industry cannot absorb.

"This problem is a simple one in mechanics. It is not concerned directly with the larger values of higher living standards, better working and living conditions, which we all regard as desirable. But its proper handling presents an indispensable physical condition without which more ultimate values cannot be realized."

Peace Delegation Appointed By Canton

Names Of Men To Meet Northern Representatives Are Not Made Public

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, January 14.—The Canton Government has appointed a Military Committee consisting of the following generals: Li Lieh-chun, Liu Tsu-wu, Niu Yung-chien, Ling Ho, Wai Pan-peng, Ma Chi, Chin Chang, Niu Cha-cho, Chin Yun-yang, Chang Shiao-tsung and Niu Kung-wen. The raison d'être of this committee is not clear but it is believed that its duties will only begin if the peace negotiations fail.

The Upper and Lower Houses in Canton held a joint session on the 11th and subsequently issued a declaration that henceforth the Military Government would be termed "The Government for the Protection of the Constitution."

The same telegram says that the Southern peace delegates have been selected and their names submitted to Parliament but they have not yet been disclosed. Thus another step has been made towards the Peace Conference but the lamentable delays are regretted in Peking, where it is said that the Southerners do not realize that the Northern Government and that the Southerners' only hope of participating in the Peace Conference in Paris is by an agreement with the North, as the Powers will assuredly only recognise the North if no agreement has been reached previously between the North and South.

GERMAN PAPER'S PLANT IS ORDERED ATTACHED

Printing Machinery Of 'The War' Subject Of Claim By Bank Liquidation Bureau

The printing plant used for the printing of the notorious German organ "The War" was ordered attached yesterday in the Mixed Court following the application of Mr. G. D. Musso, counsel for the Bureau of Liquidation of the Deutsch-Asiatische Bank in a claim for $6,500 against the Ostasiatische Lloyd. The machinery was stored in the godown of Carlowitz and Co., Soochow Road.

Mr. Carl Frischen, who was served with the summons on the claim some time ago and who denied having anything to do with it, was ordered to be served for the second time. Counsel pointed out that a document has been found, signed by Frischen and Selke, hypothecating shares of the defendant firm with the German Bank.

AMERICAN SCHOOL WINS FIRST LEAGUE GAME

Defeats Navy Quintet 23-22 In Great Basketball Battle
At Rowing Club

Coming through in the second half, the Shanghai American School quintet defeated the Navy five 23-22 in the opening game of the Amateur Basketball League at the Rowing Club gymnasium yesterday. The first game of the newly organized circuit was one of the best of the year.

The Navy led at the end of the first half by a 14-9 score, Connor's work at left forward giving the sailors the lead. In the second period, Haskell, who was the schoolboy star throughout the battle, shot four goals from the floor. Haskell was the big point-setter for the School, shooting six goals. Mack netted ten of the Navy's 22 points.

This afternoon the Y.M.C.A. Blues will play the Rowing Club at the latter's floor and tomorrow the Reds and Y.M.C.A. Training School will meet at the Y.M.C.A. No game is scheduled for Friday. Monday afternoon, the Training School and American School boys will play at the Y.M.C.A.

The South And The Allies

It is always difficult to comprehend the real situation in China, politically, but there are several elements in the present situation of considerable interest and importance. In the first place, it would appear that the North had acted on the friendly suggestions of the Allies made in their "Aide Memoire" presented to both North and South some time ago. Peace delegates from the North have been in Nanking for over a week, apparently ready to negotiate with the South. In the second place, there seems to be no very active interest on the part of the South to get together, elect and send their delegates to Nanking or wherever the conference is to be held. In the third place, in spite of the fact that the Northern peace delegates are already in Nanking, no acceptable basis for a common meeting has been established and agreed upon by both parties. In the fourth place, the South does not seem to be any more willing to change her demands that questions of constitutionalism must be settled before any progress toward unity and peace can be made; nor is it likely that she would accept any compromises of her constitutional demands—the re-establishment of the old parliament and government according to the Nanking Provisional Constitution—difficult and possibly impracticable as this would seem to be. In the fifth place what evidences are there that are satisfactory, that Japan is still not in control of the Northern party headed by Tuan Chih-jui, and is not intruding with the South?

Evidences may not be very apparent, but the present situation lends itself to serious consequences if not handled carefully. It would be quite natural for the Allies, now that the North is to all intents and purposes ready to discuss peace, to assume that the South was holding the conference up, and send to them a second note, as friendly as the first, stating their regrets that the South had not been able to get together, accept the North in good faith and their desire for peace as evinced by the despatch of delegates to Nanking, and at the same time expressing the hope that the South will find enough common ground to stand on with the North, to proceed at once towards unity and peace for the nation.

The danger of such a note would of course lie in the interpretation of it by the South, and the interpretation considering the five conditions named above, that would likely be made would be that the Allies had already come to some understanding with the North, who right away have demanded settlement of political matters first. This interpretation, helped along by those who prefer, for self-evident reason, a discontented country, would only lead to the complete alienation of the South from the Allies. For as stated above, the South would consider with suspicion any steps leading to a weakening of their demands for a constitutional government properly constituted according to the Nanking Provisional Constitution.

The necessity for a united, peaceful country is, to say the least, a dirge. The alienation of the South from the Allies which would not be difficult in view of the probable help they would be able to get from one of her neighbors, would bring about a condition much less desirable than the present one. And in the meantime, the Allies might well be on their guard and indeed increase their vigilance against alienating the confidence and hope which the South without doubt has in them as representing her own ideals of properly constituted authority and government.

Nor should the South expect more of the Allies than the Allies expect of her, to play the game, fairly, as with friends and not into the hands of a neighbor whose attitude throughout the war has been none too friendly.

Jingoism And Pacifism
In The New Parliament

By George Bernard Shaw

(Synopsis of a lecture in a course on "The Issues of the Coming Election," announced by the Fabian Society,
London, delivered November 29)

We can get rid of most of the dozen different senses in which the word pacifism is used by concluding that the extremes of Tolstolian pacifism will not be represented in the new Parliament. One wishes one could say as much for the other extreme; but the by-elections tend to show that the Hidden Handers and, in general, those zealots who believe that the war can be and should be won by themselves in England by dint of persecuting people with German names and mobbing natives who show signs of retaining their common sense under the strain of war, will not be popular or successful candidates, even when they are enthusiastically supported by the newspapers which have the best reasons for dreading an epidemic of that complaint. Certainly the majority in the House will consist of those who have won the votes both of the electors who are very tired of the war, and of those who will not support any candidate who exposes himself to the suspicion of being prepared to capitulate. It would be too much to expect that the worn-out catchwords will not still save most of the speakers at the election meetings the disgrace of having to confess that they have nothing to say. Everybody will still declare that we must have a just and lasting peace, regardless of the obvious fact that no division of the spoils in the name of peace is possibly a just one, and that no peace can be a lasting one until war is abolished as an institution by the substitution of international law for sovereign rights, which, whilst they last, must include the sovereign right, glory, and privilege of challenging every other sovereign at any moment to stake all his realm on the result of a fight. We shall still begin our speeches by crying, "Come the four quarters of the world in arms and we shall shock them," and by insisting that this must be the very last war, because no future generation of Britons can ever be expected to stand up to the Germans or to any one else.

But these imbecilities will not decide the fate of the election because they will be in the mouths of all the candidates. The rival candidates will not be able to score off one another by echoing each other's nonsense. They will be forced to explain their differences (if they differ on any other subject than their success at the polls, which in many cases they do not) in reasonable terms. Peace by agreement, which is the only alternative to peace by conquest and annexation, will no longer be allowed to mean British capitulation; the ridiculous false alternative of negotiation versus a victory will be replaced by the true alternative of agreement versus conquest.

Great War Is Over But Not For Siberia

By Thomas E. Jones
(Japan Advertiser)

The Great War is over, but not for Siberia. The Victory Parade of Allied troops marked the cessation of hostilities on the Western front, and the triumph of Inter-Allied military power, but it did not express the culmination of Russian aims and struggle. Though hushed by the presence of an Inter-Allied police force, the masses of Russia are yet unsatisfied, and who can tell what will satisfy them? Here one is thrown into sheer speculation of the fourth dimension type. If observers could not predict the outcome of Siberian unrest six months ago, they can with no greater certainty picture the future today. The only real solution of the dilemma seems to be time. The Russian people must find themselves. No foreigner can discover them for themselves. They must be given a chance to discuss, contest and even fight. All of these seem to be popular at present, and the most popular of all is discussion. It is both amusing and encouraging to see the eagerness with which any company jumps upon a morsel for discussion, regardless of its importance or connection with former events. They seem to tear it to pieces like hungry wolves devouring a new catch. These "prowls" often last until the small hours of the morning and end with a solution no nearer than when the meeting began. Yet the discussers are relieved, and the matter rests until new opportunity brings it to the front again. Although such practice seems useless and almost criminal in the face of hunger, cold and paralyzed industry which are on every hand, yet upon it rests the future of Russian Democracy, and in no small degree, Russia's contribution to world civilization.

A counterpart to this spirit of discussion is one of unsatisfied desires. Every one wants something, although often he knows not what. His convictions are strong, however, and are maintained with a finality that would convince every one but another Russian. Yet it must not be presumed that there is no unity of thought. Such unity is effected if by no other principle than that quest and permanent occupation (that is, the political if not actual vital extermination of the defeated belligerent); and it will become clear that our military aim is a convincing demonstration that Western democracy is invincible by the militarist oligarchies which still rally round the divine right of dynasties. There will also be a great challenging of the records of candidates, for example, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who has been fighting the Kaiser all his life, and once denounced the whole Fabian Society as traitors when the executive committee spoiled the Egyptians by letting the Fabian office window at a high price because it commanded a view of a royal procession in which the Kaiser was a prominent and much applauded figure, will probably

Yomiuri Recites Phoenician History

"While other races were living and dying on hills like foxes and indulging in quarrels like snails with their horns," begins the poetic editor of the Yomiuri in reciting the history of the Phoenicians who rounded Gibraltar and entered the North Sea to engage in trade with the British Isles. But the Phoenicians did not confine their activities to the west. They also passed through the Adriatic to dig precious metals in the central European mountains. Then the Crusaders, as they made expeditions to Palestine, brought new life into the relationship between Europe and Asia and prosperity came to the cities of the continent because of the increase of communications between the two continents. The Adriatic Sea was alive with sails like "sea gulls." With the discovery of the route to India around Africa this prosperity declined, but when the Suez Canal was dug and the trade with the Near East developed prosperity returned to the Adriatic. This Adriatic Sea, which before the present war was the arena of dark, underhand struggles among Austria-Germany, Italy and Serbia, has now become a stage upon which Italy and new Slavonic countries are vying with each other to extend their power.

The editor further reminds us of the German activities in the past in the Balkan Peninsula, the beginning of the war, the relations with Italy, etc., in which the Adriatic Sea figured as the stage of international conflicts. He describes in detail the struggles between the smaller races around that sea. But "today, just as when the Phoenicians sailed their ships over the Adriatic Sea, the white waves as they break on the beaches in the port of Trieste have not changed at all. There has been no change made also in that the Adriatic Sea is the center of violent struggles among the nations bordering on that sea for its control and no change will also be made in that respect in future."

Promise Of Spring, 1918.
(From The English Review)

The boy-sun laughs, and Day
Scatters his beams
Where the youngling shadows play;
And in the wounded fields
The new buds break, and put
Their lips to the morning's kiss.
And where
But yesterday a thousand loves and dreams
Moved to their close,
The rusted wire is fair
With heedless greenery.
And soon the rose
Shall make of this
Mould of young sacrifice a flaming root
Of passionate bloom that yields
The largesse of their brief mortality.

And wondrous, clear, across the breeze
Again I hear the Suffolk seas.
And fair and fleet over the grass
I hear the feet of children pass.
And where I stand, by many graves,
Are cliffs and sand, and hurrying waves.
And where the guns lie hid to slay
The river runs through yesterday.

"I don't believe I can—much. It's full of dust. Still, listen."

The rose moon whitens the lifting leaves.

Heigh-ho! the nightingale sings!
Through boughs and branches the moon thread weaves.

Ancient as time are these midnight things.

The nightingale's notes over-bubble
the night.

Heigh-ho! yet the night is so big!

He stands on his nest in a wafer of light
And the nest was once a philosopher's wig.

"Moon-sharp needles and dew on the grass."

Heigh-ho! it flickers, the breeze!

Kings, philosophers, periwigs pass.

Nightingales hatch their eggs in the trees.

"Wigs and pigs and kings and courts,
Heigh-ho! rain on the flower!

The old moon thinks her white, bright thoughts.

And trundles away before the shower."

"Well, you got it to play"

"Yes, a little. And it has lovely silver mountings."

Driftwood

(From The Century)

My forefathers gave me
My spirit's shaken flame.
The shape of hands, the beat of heart
The letters of my name.

But it was my lovers,
And not my sleeping sires,
Who taught my spirit how to flame
With iridescent fires.

As the driftwood burning
Learned its jeweled blaze
From the sea's blue splendor
Of colored nights and days.

We

(From The Pagan)

We are the singers
Who of our great love have made
A strange, unlettered song.
And have sung it,
Silently.

We are the singers,
Singing our poor hearts out in desolation,
Scaling with weak ladders of song
The high wall of the world;
Battling hopelessly

With ignorance, and meeting
Ignominious defeat.

We are the singers
Who of our great desire have sung
Strange melodies
That end in discord.

JOSEPH U. HARRIS

And Yet—

(From The Pagan)

Delicate, angular letters,
Already fading a little;
Only a few careless words
Scrawled on a title-page;
And yet—you smile at me,
Over the heads of the dead,
Across the darkened void,
As you have smiled at me
Across the lighted ballroom,
Over the heads of the dancers.

RUTH CLAY PRICE

Romance

(From The Pagan)

The house next door is of bricks,
Soft, old, brown bricks;
A vine climbs up the side.
And sparrows chirp in the vine;
They twitter, and chirp, and murmur
in the twilight and at dawn;
Some folks hate the English sparrow,
But to me the wall and the vine
And the twittering of the sparrows
Is as romantic as nightingales
In the garden of some old castle.

ADAM PEARSALE

Kings
(From The New Witness)
He held a penny in his hand,
And looked at it this way and that.
"I'm big and red and round," he said,
"While he is little, cold and flat."
"The serfs and vassals, gold and land,
The penny-king, he hasn't any;
Yet when I'm dead and dust," he said,
"He'll still be worth a penny."

American Line Allotted Big Cargo Steamers For Permanent Operation To Orient

Three trans-Pacific cargo boats, each capable of carrying 14,000 tons of cargo, have been assigned for permanent operation to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company by the United States Shipping Board. The first of the steamers is due at Manila early in March and will take cargo from Shanghai on the return trip to San Francisco. The ships may also have a limited passenger carrying capacity, but nothing definite is known about this here.

The three steamers, Elipse, Archer and Westvarg, were completed during America's campaign for a "bridge of ships." They represent the latest type of cargo-boat construction. By their addition, the Pacific Mail will give fortnightly service from Shanghai to San Francisco as it is planned to run the newly acquired liners once a month, with the Venezuela, Colombia and Ecuador also maintaining their monthly schedules.

With the Santa Cruz and Colusa on the East India service and three Shipping Board steamers operating between Manila, Saigon, Haiphong and Singapore, the Pacific Mail now operates eleven ships on the Pacific. The announcement made yesterday is the first of the promised after-war program. The local office is expecting several other ships for the trans-Pacific service.

Venezuela Here Friday

The Venezuela of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is expected at Woosung Friday afternoon and will sail Saturday afternoon. Among the passengers booked are Mr. J. J. Smiddy, United States Marshal at Honolulu; Mr. J. J. Gendreau and wife, going to Paris; Mr. R. L. Fenoweth, of the Standard Oil Company at Hankow; Mr. J. J. ## Nanking Sails Friday

The China Mail Steamship Company liner Nanking will sail from Shanghai for Japan ports and San Francisco, Friday afternoon. The liner, with passengers, will leave the Customs Jetty at four o'clock, according to an announcement made by the local agent, Mr. F. C. Charman, yesterday afternoon. The Nanking is due at Woosung early Friday morning, having left Hongkong yesterday.

Express Out Saturday

The third liner to leave for America this week, the Empress of Japan, of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, sails from Shanghai Saturday afternoon. Passengers include Mr. E. H. Everett, United States Postal Agent, Mr. R. Just, of the British-American Tobacco Company; M. Permezel, of Racine, Ackermann and Company, who goes to Paris, and Mr. W. C. Wickersham.

China Political Notes From Chinese Press

Former President Li Yuan-hung will go to Europe to study peace problems. This was announced in his letter to President Hsu Shih-chang. He said that he will be accompanied by Mr. Chang Chien, the former Minister of Agriculture and Commerce.

According to the Chung Foo News Agency, the Southwest is about to declare to the Powers that the Lu Cheng-han peace commission to Europe is not representative and should not be accorded recognition by the Powers at the peace conference. The Peking Government has instructed its agents in Canton and Hongkong to report on the matter immediately.

Military operations still continue in Shensi. General Yu Yu-fen, the Southern leader, has urged the other leaders to resume their hostilities, alleging that Tuchun Chen, Shu-fang was insincere in his words. On the other hand, the Government has explained to the South that the position taken up by the troops were for the purpose of bandit suppression and did not mean hostile action against the constitutionalists and asked the South not to be misled by General Yu.

Tuchun Li Shun of Kiangsu has again urged the issuance of a mandate granting amnesty to Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Mr. Wu Ching-lien, and other constitutionalists. The Government has delayed the issuance, it is understood, on account of the failure of the South to appoint its peace delegation to Nanking.

Both Liang Shih-yi and Chow Tse-chi are expected to come South to

JAPAN'S EMPEROR WILL SELL FORESTS

lands Valued At Y.100,000,000 Are Put On The Market, Says Japanese Gazette

Tokyo, January 6.—The Imperial Household Department has announced through the Official Gazette, that part of lands and forests owned by the Imperial family is to be sold to the public. The announcement was received with much satisfaction on the part of the people, as the people for years have longed for a chance to utilize these lands and forests, which remain uncultivated in various parts of the Empire.

According to Mr. Takahashi, General

Secretary of the Cabinet, the sale price of these Imperial properties will amount to Y.100,000,000. The properties to be sold are distributed mostly in the northern part of the Empire, where, in Hokkaido, the Imperial household owns approximately one-sixth of the whole area.

"Those lands and forests remain practically uncultivated," says Mr. Takahashi, "and if those who buy them will cultivate them properly, it will be easy to realize an income many times greater than the sale price within a few years. Besides the Government will be able to increase its revenue a great deal from the taxes on these lands and forests."
